Challenge

A Middle Eastern preminent oil company renowned for its vast reserves, oversees the coordination of numerous sites and site personnel on a weekly basis. Responsible for the entirety of oil and gas operations in Qatar through collaborative Joint Ventures, the company is often faced with personnel coordination and scheduling challenges. The process involved significant manual effort and lacked operational transparency, posing a barrier to strategic optimization objectives.

Solution

By integrating the DaWinci Industry Hub as a centralized logistics management tool, the company effectively elevated its oversight of both onshore and offshore operations within the supply chain. Leveraging their Joint Aviation Operation Center, the company has streamlined coordination of operational activities, resulting in a notable enhancement in resource utilization optimization. Consequently, this initiative has yielded a substantial decrease in manual workload and the implementation of a tailored cost structure aligned with the activity levels of individual operators.
